

Walk 18.2 WAHGUNYAH RIVER RED GUM TRAIL

Sunday, AWTGS 1 13kms

Waygunyah River Trail is a delightful river red gum forest trail, shaded in summer. Tommy McRae, one of Australia's most significant 19th century Aboriginal artists, lived at Lake Moodemere with his family in the 1880s. Set in the River Red Gum forest lining the Murray River, this provides an evocative landscape and habitat for abundant birds and wildlife.

Getting To The Start 41 kms from Wangaratta

Walk 1: Wahgunyah Football Oval, Reserve Road, Wahgunyah.

WALK DESCRIPTION

18.2 WAHGUNYAH RIVER TRACK Return, AWTGS: 1, 13 km

Formed trails, gravel and sealed roads

Leaving the Football Oval, walk north to Grimmond Lane then turn southwest to the Murray River. At the river, head upstream for 1.7 kilometres on the Willows Trail to The Willows Reserve. Via Short Street, head to Foord Street, turn south to Barkly Street heading east to Sarah Street and turn left toward the river. Follow the river for three kilometres, the Tommy McRae Track, to All Saints Road.

Once past All Saints Road, do a loop through Granthams Bend then back along the Tommy McRae Track and onto the Willows Trail then back to the cars along Reserve Road.

There may be options for exploring the Rutherglen area before returning to Wangaratta, depending upon the drivers and passengers preferences.
